The global city of Dubai is the largest in the United Arab Emirate, with tourism and a western-style business model driving its revenue. Dubai boasts cutting-edge building projects, some of the world's tallest skyscrapers and first class resorts. The Burj Khalifa, currently the tallest building in the world, affords visitors an almost surrealistic view of the city from the observation decks on the 124th and 148th floors.

Additionally, the iconic Burj Al Arab hotel, with its stunning architectural silhouette shape, is as spectacular inside as it is on the outside. With the entire modern western construction taking place in Dubai, it is sometimes easy to forget that the city is located in the Middle East. The Al Farida Historic District is a well-restored heritage area that contains museums, cultural exhibits and craft shops that tell the story of Dubai's earlier status as a settlement town inhabited by Persian merchants in the 1900s. For an even more in-depth look at Emirati culture and history, head to the Sheikh Mohammed Center for Cultural Understanding on the edge of this historic district.
